LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

AB 1784, as amended, Harman. Construction of instruments.

Existing law provides rules for the interpretation of wills, trusts, deeds, and other instruments, which are to be used as interpretive aids where the intention of the transferor is not indicated by the instrument.

This bill would revise the above-described rules for interpretation by, among other things, clarifying the appropriate use of extrinsic evidence to determine the intention of the transferor; making changes in terminology; limiting the application of certain rules to specified transfers; conforming certain rules with the Uniform Probate Code; adding new provisions regarding securities; repealing certain rules; eliminating redundant provisions; and making technical and conforming revisions.

Vote: majority. Appropriation: no. Fiscal committee: no. State-mandated local program: no.

SEC. 8. Section 6409 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

6409. (a) If a person dies intestate as to all or part of his or her estate, property the decedent gave during lifetime to an heir is

3 (1) The decedent declares in a contemporaneous writing that

10 (b) Subject to subdivision (c), the property advanced is to be 11 valued as of the time the heir came into possession or enjoyment
12 of the property or as of the time of death of the decedent, whichever 13 occurs first.

14 (c) If the value of the property advanced is expressed in the 15 contemporaneous writing of the decedent, or in an 16 acknowledgment of the heir made contemporaneously with the 17 advancement, that value is conclusive in the division and 18 distribution of the intestate estate.

19 (d) If the recipient of the property advanced fails to survive the 20 decedent, the property is not taken into account in computing the

2 this part applies to a will, trust, deed, and any other instrument.

3 SEC. 11. Section 21102 of the Probate Code is amended to
4 read:

5 21102. (a) The intention of the transferor as expressed in the 6 instrument controls the legal effect of the dispositions made in the 7 instrument.

8 (b) The rules of construction in this part apply where the 9 intention of the transferor is not indicated by the instrument.

10 (c) Nothing in this section limits the use of extrinsic evidence, 11 to the extent otherwise authorized by law, to determine the 12 intention of the transferor.

13 SEC. 12. Section 21103 of the Probate Code is amended to
14 read:

15 21103. The meaning and legal effect of a disposition in an 16 instrument is determined by the local law of a particular state
17 selected by the transferor in the instrument unless the application
18 of that law is contrary to the rights of the surviving spouse to 19 community and quasi-community property, to any other public
20 policy of this state applicable to the disposition, or, in the case of 21 a will, to Part 3 (commencing with Section 6500) of Division 6.

22 SEC. 13. Section 21104 of the Probate Code is amended to
23 read:

24 21104. As used in this part, “at-death transfer” means a 25 transfer that is revocable during the lifetime of the transferor, but 26 does not include a joint tenancy or joint account with right of 27 survivorship.

28 SEC. 14. Section 21105 of the Probate Code is amended to
29 read:

30 21105. Except as otherwise provided in Sections 641 and 642,
31 a will passes all property the testator owns at death, including 32 property acquired after execution of the will.

33 SEC. 15. Section 21106 of the Probate Code is repealed.

34 SEC. 16. Section 21107 of the Probate Code is amended to
35 read:

36 21107. If an instrument directs the conversion of real property
37 into money at the transferor’s death, the real property and its 38 proceeds shall be deemed personal property from the time of the 39 transferor’s death.

1 SEC. 17. Section 21108 of the Probate Code is amended to
2 read:

3 21108. The law of this state does not include (a) the 4 common-law rule of worthier title that a transferor cannot devise 5 an interest to his or her own heirs or (b) a presumption or rule of 6 interpretation that a transferor does not intend, by a transfer to his 7 or her own heirs or next of kin, to transfer an interest to them. The 8 meaning of a transfer of a legal or equitable interest to a 9 transferor's own heirs or next of kin, however designated, shall be 10 determined by the general rules applicable to the interpretation of 11 instruments.

12 SEC. 18. Section 21109 of the Probate Code is amended to
13 read:

14 21109. (a) A transferee who fails to survive the transferor of 15 an at-death transfer or until any future time required by the 16 instrument does not take under the instrument.

17 (b) If it cannot be determined by clear and convincing evidence
18 that the transferee survived until a future time required by the 19 instrument, it is deemed that the transferee did not survive until the 20 required future time.

21 SEC. 19. Section 21110 of the Probate Code is amended to
22 read:

23 21110. (a) Subject to subdivision (b), if a transferee is dead
24 when the instrument is executed, or fails or is treated as failing to 25 survive the transferor or until a future time required by the 26 instrument, the issue of the deceased transferee take in the 27 transferee's place in the manner provided in Section 240. A 28 transferee under a class gift shall be a transferee for the purpose of 29 this subdivision unless the transferee's death occurred before the 30 execution of the instrument and that fact was known to the 31 transferor when the instrument was executed.

32 (b) The issue of a deceased transferee do not take in the 33 transferee's place if the instrument expresses a contrary intention
34 or a substitute disposition. A requirement that the initial transferee 35 survive the transferor or survive for a specified period of time after 36 the death of the transferor constitutes a contrary intention. A
37 requirement that the initial transferee survive until a future time
38 that is related to the probate of the transferor's will or 39 administration of the estate of the transferor constitutes a contrary
40 intention.

(c) As used in this section, “transferee” means a person who is kindred of the transferor or kindred of a surviving, deceased, or former spouse of the transferor.

SEC. 20. Section 21111 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

21111. (a) Except as provided in subdivision (b) and subject to Section 21110, if a transfer fails for any reason, the property is transferred as follows:

(1) If the transferring instrument provides for an alternative disposition in the event the transfer fails, the property is transferred according to the terms of the instrument.

(2) If the transferring instrument does not provide for an alternative disposition but does provide for the transfer of a residue, the property becomes a part of the residue transferred under the instrument.

(3) If the transferring instrument does not provide for an alternative disposition and does not provide for the transfer of a residue, or if the transfer is itself a residuary gift, the property is transferred to the decedent’s estate.

(b) Subject to Section 21110, if a residuary gift or a future interest is transferred to two or more persons and the share of a transferee fails for any reason, and no alternative disposition is provided, the share passes to the other transferees in proportion to their other interest in the residuary gift or the future interest.

(c) A transfer of “all my estate” or words of similar import is a residuary gift for purposes of this section.

(d) If failure of a future interest results in an intestacy, the property passes to the heirs of the transferor determined pursuant to Section 21114.

SEC. 21. Section 21112 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

21112. A condition in a transfer of a present or future interest that refers to a person’s death “with” or “without” issue, or to a person’s “having” or “leaving” issue or no issue, or a condition based on words of similar import, is construed to refer to that person’s being dead at the time the transfer takes effect in enjoyment and to that person either having or not having, as the case may be, issue who are alive at the time of enjoyment.

SEC. 22. Section 21113 of the Probate Code is repealed.

1 SEC. 23. Section 21114 of the Probate Code is amended to

4 of a present or future interest to, or creates a present or future
5 interest in, a designated person's "heirs," "heirs at law," "next of 6 kin," "relatives," or "family," or words of similar import, the 7 transfer is to the persons, including the state under Section 6800,
8 and in the shares; that would succeed to the designated person's 9 intestate estate under the intestate succession law of the ~~designated~~ 10 ~~person's domicile~~ transferor's domicile, if the designated person
11 died when the transfer is to take effect in enjoyment. If the 12 designated person's surviving spouse is living but is remarried at 13 the time the transfer is to take effect in enjoyment, the surviving 14 spouse is not an heir of the designated person for purposes of this 15 section.

16 (b) As used in this section, "designated person" includes the 17 transferor.

18 SEC. 24. Section 21115 of the Probate Code is amended to
19 read:

20 21115. (a) Except as provided in subdivision (b), halfbloods,
21 adopted persons, persons born out of wedlock, stepchildren, foster
22 children, and the issue of these persons when appropriate to the 23 class, are included in terms of class gift or relationship in 24 accordance with the rules for determining relationship and 25 inheritance rights for purposes of intestate succession.

26 (b) In construing a transfer by a transferor who is not the natural
27 parent, a person born to the natural parent shall not be considered
28 the child of that parent unless the person lived while a minor as a 29 regular member of the household of the natural parent or of that 30 parent's parent, brother, sister, spouse, or surviving spouse. In 31 construing a transfer by a transferor who is not the adoptive parent, 32 a person adopted by the adoptive parent shall not be considered the 33 child of that parent unless the person lived while a minor (either 34 before or after the adoption) as a regular member of the household 35 of the adopting parent or of that parent's parent, brother, sister, or 36 surviving spouse.

37 (c) Subdivisions (a) and (b) shall also apply in determining:

38 (1) Persons who would be kindred of the transferor or kindred 39 of a surviving, deceased, or former spouse of the transferor under 40 Section 21110.

(2) Persons to be included as issue of a deceased transferee under Section 21110.

(3) Persons who would be the transferor's or other designated person's heirs under Section 21114.

SEC. 25. Section 21116 of the Probate Code is repealed.

SEC. 26. Section 21117 of the Probate Code is amended to read:

If the instrument permits the fiduciary to value the property selected for distribution as of a date other than the date of distribution, then, unless the instrument expressly provides otherwise, the property selected by the fiduciary for that purpose shall fairly reflect net appreciation and depreciation (occurring between the valuation date and the date of distribution) in all of the assets from which the distribution could have been made.

(b) As used in this section, "pecuniary gift" means a transfer of property made in an instrument that either is expressly stated as

1 a fixed dollar amount or is a dollar amount determinable by the 2 provisions of the instrument.

3 SEC. 28. Section 21120 of the Probate Code is amended to
4 read:

5 21120. The words of an instrument are to receive an 6 interpretation that will give every expression some effect, rather 7 than one that will render any of the expressions inoperative.
8 Preference is to be given to an interpretation of an instrument that 9 will prevent intestacy or failure of a transfer, rather than one that 10 will result in an intestacy or failure of a transfer.

11 SEC. 29. Section 21121 of the Probate Code is amended to
12 read:

13 21121. All parts of an instrument are to be construed in 14 relation to each other and so as, if possible, to form a consistent
15 whole. If the meaning of any part of an instrument is ambiguous 16 or doubtful, it may be explained by any reference to or recital of 17 that part in another part of the instrument.

18 SEC. 30. Section 21122 of the Probate Code is amended to
19 read:

20 21122. The words of an instrument are to be given their 21 ordinary and grammatical meaning unless the intention to use
22 them in another sense is clear and their intended meaning can be 23 ascertained. Technical words are not necessary to give effect to a
24 disposition in an instrument. Technical words are to be considered
25 as having been used in their technical sense unless (a) the context
26 clearly indicates a contrary intention or (b) it satisfactorily appears 27 that the instrument was drawn solely by the transferor and that the 28 transferor was unacquainted with the technical sense.

29 SEC. 31. Section 21131 of the Probate Code is amended to
30 read:

31 21131. A specific gift passes the property transferred subject

36 SEC. 33. Section 21132 is added to the Probate Code, to read:

37 21132. (a) If a transferor executes an instrument that makes 38 an at-death transfer of securities and the transferor then owned 39 securities that meet the description in the instrument, the transfer 40 includes additional securities owned by the transferor at death to

1 the extent the additional securities were acquired by the transferor
2 after the instrument was executed as a result of the transferor's
3 ownership of the described securities and are securities of any of 4 the following types:

6 action initiated by the organization or any successor, related, or 7 acquiring organization, excluding any acquired by exercise of

17 read:

20 is owned by the transferor at the time the gift takes effect in 21 possession or enjoyment, and all of the following:

22 (a) Any balance of the purchase price (together with any

37 ~~at the time the gift takes effect in possession or enjoyment that the~~ 38 ~~transferor acquired as a replacement for specifically given real or~~ 39 ~~tangible personal property.~~

1 SEC. 35. Section 21134 of the Probate Code is amended to
2 read:

3 21134. (a) Except as otherwise provided in this section, if 4 after the execution of the instrument of gift specifically given
5 property is sold or mortgaged by a conservator or by an agent
6 acting within the authority of a durable power of attorney for an 7 incapacitated principal, the transferee of the specific gift has the

2 from the at-death transfer.
