An act to add Section 787 to the Penal Code, relating to jurisdiction, and declaring the urgency thereof, to take effect immediately.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

AB 2106, as introduced, Bogh. Jurisdiction.

Generally, jurisdiction over an offense is in the jurisdictional territory where it occurs. Existing law provides that the jurisdiction for an offense committed in part in 2 different jurisdictional territories is in any competent court of either jurisdictional territory. For certain specified theft-related crimes involving property moved among jurisdictions territories, jurisdiction lies in any of those territories. For crimes of domestic and sexual abuse, where the defendant and victim are the same and the offenses occur in several jurisdictional territories, jurisdiction lies in each of those territories. Existing law provides for other special jurisdictional determinations involving treason, incest, bigamy, and other offenses without clear territorial connection, or with connections to multiple territories.

This bill would provide for territorial jurisdiction over charged violations of any of a specified set of provisions in the courts of any of the territories in which any one of the offenses occurred, if the offenses are part of a single scheme or terrorist attack.

This bill would declare that it is to take effect immediately as an urgency statute.
