CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE—2009—10 REGULAR SESSION

ASSEMBLY BILL

No. 2416

Introduced by Assembly Member Cook

February 19, 2010

An act to amend Section 3047 of the Family Code, relating to child custody.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

AB 2416, as amended, Cook. Child custody: parent on active military duty.

Existing law provides that a party's absence, relocation, or failure to comply with custody and visitation orders is not, by itself, sufficient to justify a modification of a custody or visitation order if the reason for the absence, relocation, or failure is the party's activation to military service and deployment out of state.

This bill would apply this provision to cases in which a party's absence, relocation, or failure to comply is due to the party's activation to military service, mobilization in support of combat or other military operation, or military deployment out of state, as defined. The bill would authorize the court to issue a temporary order for custody and visitation for the period in which the party will be deployed, mobilized, or on temporary duty, as specified, and would establish a presumption that, upon the return of that party, the order shall revert back to the custody order that was in place prior to the modification. The bill would further authorize the court to grant reasonable visitation rights to a stepparent, grandparent, or other family member if the court finds a preexisting relationship, as specified, that the visitation would facilitate the child’s contact with the party who is deployed, mobilized, or on temporary duty, and the court balances the interest of the child in having visitation with the family member against the right of the parents to exercise parental authority. The bill would require the court to order an expedited hearing or allow the party who is deployed, mobilized, or on temporary duty to present evidence and participate in court-ordered custody mediation by electronic means under specified circumstances.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Section 3047 of the Family Code is amended to 2 read:
 3 3047. (a) A party’s absence, relocation, or failure to comply
 4 with custody and visitation orders shall not, by itself, be sufficient 5 to justify a modification of a custody or visitation order if the 6 reason for the absence, relocation, or failure to comply is the party’s 7 activation to military duty or temporary duty, mobilization in 8 support of combat or other military operation, or military 9 deployment out of state.
 10 (b) (1) If a party with sole or joint physical custody or visitation 11 receives temporary duty, deployment, or mobilization orders from 12 the military that require the party to move a substantial distance 13 from his or her residence or otherwise has a material effect on the 14 ability of the party to exercise custody or visitation rights, a 15 modification of the existing custody order shall be deemed a 16 temporary custody order, which shall be subject to review and 17 reconsideration upon the return of the party from military 18 deployment, mobilization, or temporary duty. If the temporary 19 order is reviewed upon return of the party from military 20 deployment, mobilization, or temporary duty, there shall be a 21 presumption that the custody order shall revert to the order that 22 was in place before the modification, unless the court determines 23 that it is not in the best interest of the child.
 24 (2) (A) If the court makes a temporary custody order, it shall 25 consider any appropriate orders to ensure that the relocating party

1 can maintain frequent and continuing contact with the child by 2 means that are reasonably available.

3 (B) Upon a motion by the relocating party, the court may grant
4 reasonable visitation rights to a stepparent, grandparent, or other 5 family member if the court does all of the following:

6 (i) Finds that there is a preexisting relationship between the 7 family member and the child that has engendered a bond such that 8 visitation is in the best interest of the child.

9 (ii) Finds that the visitation will facilitate the child's contact 10 with the relocating party.

11 (iii) Balances the interest of the child in having visitation with 12 the family member against the right of the parents to exercise
13 parental authority.

14 (C) Nothing in this paragraph shall increase the authority of the 15 persons described in subparagraph (B) to seek visitation orders
16 independently.

17 (D) The granting of visitation rights to a nonparent pursuant to 18 subparagraph (B) shall not impact the calculation of child support.

19 (c) If a party's deployment, mobilization, or temporary duty
20 will have a material effect on his or her ability, or anticipated 21 ability, to appear in person at a regularly scheduled hearing, the 22 court shall do either of the following:

23 (1) Upon motion of the party, hold an expedited hearing to 24 determine custody and visitation issues prior to the departure of 25 the party.

26 (2) Upon motion of the party, allow the party to present
27 testimony and evidence and participate in court-ordered child
28 custody mediation by electronic means, including, but not limited
29 to, telephone, video teleconferencing, or the Internet, to the extent 30 that this technology is reasonably available to the court and protects 31 the due process rights of all parties.

32 (d) For purposes of this section, the following terms have the 33 following meanings:

34 (1) "Deployment" means the temporary transfer of a member 35 of the Armed Forces in active-duty status in support of combat or 36 some other military operation.

37 (2) "Mobilization" means the transfer of a member of the 38 National Guard or Military Reserve to extended active-duty status, 39 but does not include National Guard or Military Reserve annual 40 training.

1 (3) “Temporary duty” means the transfer of a service member
2 from one military base to a different location, usually another base, 3 for a limited period of time to accomplish training or to assist in 4 the performance of a noncombat mission.

5 (e) It is the intent of the Legislature that this section provide a 6 fair, efficient, and expeditious process to resolve child custody
7 and visitation issues when a party receives temporary duty,
8 deployment, or mobilization orders from the military.
