ASSEMBLY BILL

No. 1403

Introduced by Committee on Judiciary (Feuer (Chair), Atkins, Dickinson, Huber, Huffman, Monning, and Wieckowski)

March 7, 2011

An act to amend Sections 222.5, 662.5, and 1033.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure, relating to civil actions.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

AB 1403, as amended, Committee on Judiciary. Civil actions.

(1) Existing law requires a trial judge to examine prospective jurors, and, upon completion of the judge's examination, grants counsel for each party the right to examine, by oral and direct questioning, any prospective juror in order to enable counsel to intelligently exercise peremptory challenges and challenges for cause. Existing law requires the scope of examination conducted by counsel to be within the reasonable limits prescribed by the trial judge and prohibits the imposition of unreasonable or arbitrary time limits on the examination.

This bill would specify that this prohibition applies to all cases.

(2) Existing law authorizes the trial court, in its discretion, in any civil action where after trial by jury an order granting a new trial limited to the issue of damages would be proper, to make a conditional order granting a new trial. If the ground for granting a new trial is inadequate damages, the order granting the new trial may be subject to the condition that the motion for a new trial is denied if the party against whom the verdict has been rendered consents to an increased verdict, as specified. If the ground for granting a new trial is excessive damages, the order granting the new trial may be subject to the condition that the motion for a new trial is denied if the party in whose favor the verdict has been rendered consents to a reduction of the verdict, as specified.

This bill would provide that the deadline for acceptance or rejection of the addition or reduction of damages is 30 days from the date the conditional order is served by the clerk of the court, if a deadline is not set forth in the conditional order. The bill would provide that failure to respond to the order shall be deemed a rejection of the addition or reduction of damages, and a new trial limited to the issue of damages shall be granted automatically. The bill would require a party filing and serving an acceptance of a conditionally ordered addition or reduction of damages to concurrently serve and submit to the court a proposed amended judgment reflecting the modified judgment amount, as well as any other uncontested judgment awards. The bill would also make technical changes.

(3) Existing law provides that the prevailing party, as defined, is generally entitled to recover specified costs in an action or proceeding and lists the items that are recoverable costs.

This bill would add court interpreter fees to those costs that may be recovered, when the court has authorized a court interpreter for an indigent person, as ~~defined~~ specified.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

1 SECTION 1. Section 222.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure is
2 amended to read:
3 222.5. To select a fair and impartial jury in civil jury trials, the 4 trial judge shall examine the prospective jurors. Upon completion 5 of the judge’s initial examination, counsel for each party shall have 6 the right to examine, by oral and direct questioning, any of the 7 prospective jurors in order to enable counsel to intelligently
8 exercise both peremptory challenges and challenges for cause.
9 During any examination conducted by counsel for the parties, the 10 trial judge should permit liberal and probing examination calculated 11 to discover bias or prejudice with regard to the circumstances of 12 the particular case. The fact that a topic has been included in the

1 judge’s examination should not preclude additional nonrepetitive
2 or nonduplicative questioning in the same area by counsel.

3 The scope of the examination conducted by counsel shall be 4 within reasonable limits prescribed by the trial judge in the judge’s
5 sound discretion. In exercising his or her sound discretion as to 6 the form and subject matter of voir dire questions, the trial judge
7 should consider, among other criteria, any unique or complex
8 elements, legal or factual, in the case and the individual responses 9 or conduct of jurors which may evince attitudes inconsistent with 10 suitability to serve as a fair and impartial juror in the particular 11 case. Specific unreasonable or arbitrary time limits shall not be 12 imposed in any case.

13 The trial judge should permit counsel to conduct voir dire
14 examination without requiring prior submission of the questions
15 unless a particular counsel engages in improper questioning. For 16 purposes of this section, an “improper question” is any question 17 which, as its dominant purpose, attempts to precondition the 18 prospective jurors to a particular result, indoctrinate the jury, or 19 question the prospective jurors concerning the pleadings or the 20 applicable law. A court should not arbitrarily or unreasonably
21 refuse to submit reasonable written questionnaires, the contents 22 of which are determined by the court in its sound discretion, when 23 requested by counsel.

24 In civil cases, the court may, upon stipulation by counsel for all 25 the parties appearing in the action, permit counsel to examine the 26 prospective jurors outside a judge’s presence.

27 SEC. 2. Section 662.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 28 amended to read:

29 662.5. (a) In any civil action where after trial by jury an order 30 granting a new trial limited to the issue of damages would be 31 proper, the trial court may in its discretion:

32 (1) If the ground for granting a new trial is inadequate damages,
33 issue a conditional order granting the new trial unless the party
34 against whom the verdict has been rendered consents to the addition 35 of damages in an amount the court in its independent judgment
36 determines from the evidence to be fair and reasonable.

37 (2) If the ground for granting a new trial is excessive damages, 38 issue a conditional order granting the new trial unless the party in 39 whose favor the verdict has been rendered consents to the reduction

1 of so much thereof as the court in its independent judgment
2 determines from the evidence to be fair and reasonable.

3 (b) If a deadline for acceptance or rejection of the addition or 4 reduction of damages is not set forth in the conditional order, the 5 deadline is 30 days from the date the conditional order is served 6 by the clerk of the court. Failure to respond to the order in 7 accordance with this section shall be deemed a rejection of the 8 addition or reduction of damages and a new trial limited to the 9 issue of damages shall be granted automatically.

10 (c) A party filing and serving an acceptance of a conditionally
11 ordered addition or reduction of damages shall concurrently serve 12 and submit to the court a proposed amended judgment reflecting 13 the modified judgment amount, as well as any other uncontested
14 judgment awards.

15 SEC. 3. Section 1033.5 of the Code of Civil Procedure is

21 may be allowed if they were reasonably helpful to aid the trier of 22 fact.
 - 23 (14) Any other item that is required to be awarded to the 24 prevailing party pursuant to statute as an incident to prevailing in 25 the action at trial or on appeal.
- 26 (b) The following items are not allowable as costs, except when 27 expressly authorized by law:

39 preparation.

1 (4) Items not mentioned in this section and items assessed upon
2 application may be allowed or denied in the court’s discretion.
3 (5) When any statute of this state refers to the award of “costs
4 and attorney’s fees,” attorney’s fees are an item and component 5 of the costs to be awarded and are allowable as costs pursuant to 6 subparagraph (B) of paragraph (10) of subdivision (a). Any claim
7 not based upon the court’s established schedule of attorney’s fees
8 for actions on a contract shall bear the burden of proof. Attorney’s
9 fees allowable as costs pursuant to subparagraph (B) of paragraph 10 (10) of subdivision (a) may be fixed as follows: (A) upon a noticed
