PRAYER

Prayer was offered by the Chaplain, Rabbi Mona Alfi:

O holy and gracious God, Over the next few weeks, thousands of young men and women will be graduating from high school, preparing to venture out into the world, and into life.

President Theodore Roosevelt spent much of his life in service to our country. He was a man who understood big ideas and real problems. He once advised graduating high school students with these sage words: "Be practical as well as generous in your ideals. Keep your eyes on the stars, but remember to keep your feet on the ground."

Whether we are students heading out in the world, or are already well seasoned by life, this is good advice for us to follow. Success in our personal life, in work, and in government all require a balance between idealism and practicality, generosity and skepticism. If we err too far on one side or the other we risk our ability to be effective.

May the Holy One bless us as we seek ways to serve our State. May we be granted wisdom and compassion, and the ability to find practical solutions for difficult problems.

May this be God's will.—AMEN.
