PRAYER

Upon invitation of the President, the following prayer was offered by Rev. Michael Moran, Spiritual Life Center:

In 1964 American poet and songwriter Bob Dylan wrote about a huge change that was taking place in the social and political core consciousness of our nation. President Kennedy had been assassinated, war was escalating, Civil rights advocates were marching, freedom riders were being called traitors by some, and we as a people were being forced to change.

Dylan wrote about this movement that was picking up momentum. He wrote a call to action—an anthem that was true then and is even more obvious now.

“Come gather round people wherever you roam
And admit that the waters around you have grown.
And accept that soon you’ll be drenched to the bone.
If your time to you is worth savin’, then you better start swimming or you’ll sink like a stone.
For the times they are a changin’.”
Come Senators, Congressmen and please heed this call,
Don’t stand in the doorway and don’t block the hall.
For he that hurts is the one who has stalled.
There’s a battle outside and it’s ragin’
It’ll soon shake your windows and rattle your walls.
For the times they are a changin’.”

This morning I ask for blessings for you, those you serve, and for wisdom as you work together to safely guide us through these changing times that are literally shaking our windows and rattling our walls.

Loving Creator—Divine Presence,

We thank you for this new day and the work that is ours to do. We are grateful for our capacity to think and plan, dream and act; for our ability to make things happen that will improve the lives of those we represent. Thank you for the privilege and sacred responsibility of being makers of history. May we, the elected representatives of the people of California be ever mindful of the needs of the less fortunate among us, and the greater good for all citizens.

Bless our work and those with whom we serve. Guide us along the path of harmony and justice. May we always put the welfare of the people who trust us at the heart of all our endeavors and use our skills to build a healthy and sustainable state and world. Help us to treat each other with genuine respect and seek fair and just solutions to the many problems we face.

Loving God known by many names, bless this assembly of women and men entrusted with the health and well-being of our beautiful state. Guide them and direct them each step of the way this day.

Om Shanti, Shalom, Salam, Peace.—AMEN.
