

AMENDED IN SENATE AUGUST 28, 2001

AMENDED IN SENATE MAY 31, 2001

AMENDED IN ASSEMBLY MAY 7, 2001

AMENDED IN ASSEMBLY APRIL 2, 2001

CALIFORNIA LEGISLATURE—2001–02 REGULAR SESSION

ASSEMBLY BILL

No. 237

Introduced by Assembly Member Papan

February 13, 2001

An act to amend the heading of Article 6 (commencing with Section 1250.410) of Chapter 5 of Title 7 of Part 3 of, to amend Sections 1250.410, 1255.010, 1255.030, 1258.220, and 1258.260 of, and to add Sections 1250.420, 1250.430, and 1260.040 to, the Code of Civil Procedure, and to amend Section 7267.2 of the Government Code, relating to eminent domain procedure.

LEGISLATIVE COUNSEL'S DIGEST

AB 237, as amended, Papan. Eminent domain.

Existing law, the Eminent Domain Law, provides a procedure to exercise the power of eminent domain to acquire property for a public use. It details the rules for the commencement of such a proceeding and for compensation of the owner of the property. Existing law requires, at least 20 days prior to the date of the trial on the issues relating to compensation, for the plaintiff to file with the court and serve on the defendant its final offer of compensation in the proceeding and the defendant to file and serve on the plaintiff its final demand for compensation in the proceeding.

This bill would require the final offer and demand to include all elements of required compensation, including compensation for loss of goodwill, and to indicate whether or not interest and costs are included.

The bill also would provide that the parties may by agreement refer a dispute that is the subject of an eminent domain proceeding for resolution by mediation or binding or nonbinding arbitration, as specified; and, if a judgment in eminent domain is not more favorable to the moving party following nonbinding arbitration, would require the court to order that party to pay to the other parties, specified nonrefundable costs and fees unless the court finds in writing and on motion that the imposition of costs and fees would create such a substantial economic hardship as not to be in the interest of justice.

The bill would provide that, upon motion of a party, the court may postpone the date of trial in an eminent domain proceeding for a period that appears adequate to enable resolution of a dispute pursuant to alternative resolution procedures provided that the court is satisfied that certain conditions are met, as specified.

Existing law provides that at any time before entry of the judgment, the plaintiff may deposit with the State Treasury the probable amount of compensation, based on an appraisal, that will be awarded in the proceeding. Existing law requires the plaintiff, prior to making the deposit, to have an expert qualified to express an opinion as to the value of the property make an appraisal of the property and prepare a written statement of, or summary of, the basis for the appraisal.

This bill would require the statement or summary to contain detail sufficient to clearly indicate the basis for the appraisal, including the highest and best use and applicable zoning of the property, the principal transactions, reproduction or replacement cost analysis, or capitalization analysis, supporting the appraisal, and if the appraisal includes compensation for damages to the remainder, the compensation for the property and for damages to the remainder stated separately, and the calculations and a narrative explanation supporting the compensation, including any offsetting benefits.

Existing law requires the court, upon motion, to determine or redetermine whether the amount deposited is the probable amount of compensation that will be awarded.

This bill would specify the information necessary to support that motion.

Existing law defines the “date of exchange” for the purposes of the provisions relating to exchange of valuation data in eminent domain proceedings, as the date agreed to by the parties for the exchange of their lists of expert witnesses and statements of valuation data by the party who served a demand and the party on whom the demand was served, or, failing agreement, a date 60 days prior to commencement of the trial on the issue of compensation, or the date set by the court on noticed motion of either party establishing good cause therefor.

This bill would provide that failing agreement, the date of exchange is a date 90, rather than 60, days prior to the above specified events, and would provide that unless otherwise agreed to by the parties, the date of exchange shall not be earlier than 9 months after the date of commencement of the proceeding.

Existing law requires the statement of valuation data to provide the name and business or residence address of the witness and to include a statement whether the witness will testify to an opinion, as specified.

This bill would require the method used to determine a loss of good will and a summary of the data supporting the opinion to be included in the exchange of valuation data. Moreover, the bill would provide that either party may move the court for a ruling on a evidentiary or other legal issue affecting the determination of compensation, and would require the motion to be made 60 days before commencement of trial on the issue of compensation. The bill would authorize the court to postpone the date of final offers and demands of the parties and the date of trial for a period sufficient to enable the parties to engage in further proceedings before trial in response to the court's ruling on the motion.

Existing law requires a public entity to establish an amount which it believes to be just compensation for the acquisition of real property and to provide the owner of real property with a written statement of, and summary of the basis for, the amount it established as just compensation. Existing law provides that where the property is owner occupied residential property and contains no more than 4 residential units, the homeowner shall, upon request, be allowed to review a copy of the appraisal upon which the offer is based.

This bill would specify the necessary detail required of the written statement and summary, and would provide that the public entity may meet the written statement, summary, and review requirements by providing the property owner with a copy of the appraisal.

The provisions of the bill would apply to any proceeding commenced on or after January 1, 2002.

Vote: majority. Appropriation: no. Fiscal committee: no. State-mandated local program: no.

The people of the State of California do enact as follows:

1 SECTION 1. The heading of Article 6 (commencing with 2 Section 1250.410) of Chapter 5 of Title 7 of Part 3 of the Code of 3 Civil Procedure is amended to read:

4
5 Article 6. Settlement Offers and Alternative Dispute
6 Resolution

7 8 SEC. 2. Section 1250.410 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 9 amended to read:

10 1250.410. (a) At least 20 days prior to the date of the trial on 11 issues relating to compensation, the plaintiff shall file with the 12 court and serve on the defendant its final offer of compensation in 13 the proceeding and the defendant shall file and serve on the 14 plaintiff its final demand for compensation in the proceeding. The 15 offer and the demand shall include all compensation required 16 pursuant to this title, including compensation for loss of goodwill, 17 if any, and shall state whether interest and costs are included. Such 18 offers and demands shall be the only offers and demands 19 considered by the court in determining the entitlement, if any, to 20 litigation expenses. Service shall be in the manner prescribed by 21 Chapter 5 (commencing with Section 1010) of Title 14 of Part 2.

22 (b) If the court, on motion of the defendant made within 30 days 23 after entry of judgment, finds that the offer of the plaintiff was 24 unreasonable and that the demand of the defendant was reasonable 25 viewed in the light of the evidence admitted and the compensation 26 awarded in the proceeding, the costs allowed pursuant to Section 27 1268.710 shall include the defendant's litigation expenses.

28 In determining the amount of ~~such~~ those litigation expenses, the 29 court shall consider the offer required to be made by the plaintiff 30 pursuant to Section 7267.2 of the Government Code and any other 31 written offers and demands filed and served prior to or during the 32 trial.

33 (c) If timely made, the offers and demands as provided in 34 subdivision (a) shall be considered by the court on the issue of 35 determining an entitlement to litigation expenses.

36 SEC. 3. Section 1250.420 is added to the Code of Civil 37 Procedure, to read:

1 1250.420. The parties may by agreement refer a dispute that 2 is the subject of an eminent domain proceeding for resolution by 3 any of the following means:

4 (a) Mediation by a neutral mediator.

5 (b) Binding arbitration by a neutral arbitrator. The arbitration 6 is subject to Chapter 12 (commencing with Section 1273.010).

7 (c) Nonbinding arbitration by a neutral arbitrator. The 8 arbitrator's decision in a nonbinding arbitration is final unless 9 within 30 days after service of the arbitrator's decision a party 10 moves the court for a trial of the eminent domain proceeding. If the 11 judgment in the eminent domain proceeding is not more favorable 12 to the moving party, the court shall order that party to pay to the 13 other parties the following nonrefundable costs and fees, unless 14 the court finds in writing and on motion that the imposition of costs 15 and fees would create such a substantial economic hardship as not 16 to be in the interest of justice:

17 (1) All costs specified in Section 1033.5, limited to those 18 incurred from the time of election of the trial de novo. Nothing in 19 this subdivision affects the right of a defendant to recover costs 20 otherwise allowable pursuant to Section 1268.710, incurred 21 before election of a trial de novo, except that a defendant may 22 recover the costs of determining the apportionment of the award 23 made pursuant to subdivision (b) of Section 1260.220 whenever 24 incurred.

25 (2) The reasonable costs of the services of expert witnesses 26 who are not regular employees of any party, actually incurred and 27 reasonably necessary in the preparation or trial of the case, limited 28 to those incurred from the time of election of the trial de novo.

29 (3) The compensation paid by the parties to the arbitrator.

30 SEC. 4. Section 1250.430 is added to the Code of Civil 31 Procedure, to read:

32 1250.430. Notwithstanding any other statute or rule of court 33 governing the date of trial of an eminent domain proceeding, on 34 motion of a party the court may postpone the date of trial for a 35 period that appears adequate to enable resolution of a dispute 36 pursuant to alternative resolution procedures, if it is demonstrated 37 to the satisfaction of the court that all of the following conditions 38 are satisfied:

39 (a) The parties are actively engaged in alternative resolution of 40 the dispute pursuant to Section 1250.420.

1 (b) The parties appear to be making progress toward resolution 2 of the dispute without the need for a trial of the matter.

3 (c) The parties agree that additional time for the purpose of 4 alternative dispute resolution is desirable.

5 SEC. 5. Section 1255.010 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 6 amended to read:

7 1255.010. (a) At any time before entry of judgment, the 8 plaintiff may deposit with the State Treasury the probable amount 9 of compensation, based on an appraisal, that will be awarded in the 10 proceeding. The appraisal upon which the deposit is based shall be 11 one that satisfies the requirements of subdivision (b). The deposit 12 may be made whether or not the plaintiff applies for an order for 13 possession or intends to do so.

14 (b) Before making a deposit under this section, the plaintiff 15 shall have an expert qualified to express an opinion as to the value 16 of the property (1) make an appraisal of the property and (2) 17 prepare a written statement of, or summary of the basis for, the 18 appraisal. The statement or summary shall contain detail sufficient 19 to indicate clearly the basis for the appraisal, including, but not 20 limited to, all of the following information:

21 (A) The date of valuation, highest and best use, and applicable
22 zoning of the property.

23 (B) The principal transactions, reproduction or replacement 24 cost analysis, or capitalization analysis, supporting the appraisal.

25 (C) If the appraisal includes compensation for damages to the 26 remainder, the compensation for the property and for damages to 27 the remainder separately stated, and the calculations and a 28 narrative explanation supporting the compensation, including any 29 offsetting benefits.

30 (c) On noticed motion, or upon ex parte application in an 31 emergency, the court may permit the plaintiff to make a deposit 32 without prior compliance with subdivision (b) if the plaintiff 33 presents facts by affidavit showing that (1) good cause exists for 34 permitting an immediate deposit to be made, (2) an adequate 35 appraisal has not been completed and cannot reasonably be 36 prepared before making the deposit, and (3) the amount of the 37 deposit to be made is not less than the probable amount of 38 compensation that the plaintiff, in good faith, estimates will be 39 awarded in the proceeding. In its order, the court shall require that 40 the plaintiff comply with subdivision (b) within a reasonable time,

1 to be specified in the order, and also that any additional amount of 2 compensation shown by the appraisal required by subdivision (b) 3 be deposited within that time.

4 SEC. 6. Section 1255.030 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 5 amended to read:

6 1255.030. (a) At any time after a deposit has been made
7 pursuant to this article, the court shall, upon motion of the plaintiff 8 or of any party having an interest in the property for which the 9 deposit was made, determine or redetermine whether the amount 10 deposited is the probable amount of compensation that will be 11 awarded in the proceeding. The motion shall be supported with 12 detail sufficient to indicate clearly the basis for the motion, 13 including, but not limited to, the following information to the 14 extent relevant to the motion:

15 (1) The date of valuation, highest and best use, and applicable
16 zoning of the property.

17 (2) The principal transactions, reproduction or replacement
18 cost analysis, or capitalization analysis, supporting the motion.

19 (3) The compensation for the property and for damages to the 20 remainder separately stated, and the calculations and a narrative
21 explanation supporting the compensation, including any offsetting
22 benefits.

23 (b) If the plaintiff has not taken possession of the property and 24 the court determines that the probable amount of compensation 25 exceeds the amount deposited, the court may order the plaintiff to 26 increase the deposit or may deny the plaintiff possession of the 27 property until the amount deposited has been increased to the 28 amount specified in the order.

29 (c) If the plaintiff has taken possession of the property and the 30 court determines that the probable amount of compensation 31 exceeds the amount deposited, the court shall order the amount 32 deposited to be increased to the amount determined to be the 33 probable amount of compensation. If the amount on deposit is not 34 increased accordingly within 30 days from the date of the court's 35 order, or ~~such~~ any longer time as the court may have allowed at the 36 time of making the order, the defendant may serve on the plaintiff 37 a notice of election to treat that failure as an abandonment of the 38 proceeding. If the plaintiff does not cure its failure within 10 days 39 after receipt of such notice, the court shall, upon motion of the 40 defendant, enter judgment dismissing the proceeding and

1 awarding the defendant his or her litigation expenses and damages
2 as provided in Sections 1268.610 and 1268.620.

3 (d) After any amount deposited pursuant to this article has been 4 withdrawn by a defendant, the court may not determine or 5 redetermine the probable amount of compensation to be less than 6 the total amount already withdrawn. Nothing in this subdivision 7 precludes the court from making a determination or 8 redetermination that probable compensation is greater than the 9 amount withdrawn.

10 (e) If the court determines that the amount deposited exceeds 11 the probable amount of compensation, it may permit the plaintiff 12 to withdraw the excess not already withdrawn by the defendant.

13 (f) The plaintiff may at any time increase the amount deposited 14 without making a motion under this section. In ~~such~~ that case, 15 notice of the increase shall be served as provided in subdivision (a) 16 of Section 1255.020.

17 SEC. 7. Section 1258.220 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 18 amended to read:

19 1258.220. (a) For the purposes of this article, the “date of 20 exchange” is the date agreed to for the exchange of their lists of 21 expert witnesses and statements of valuation data by the party who 22 served a demand and the party on whom the demand was served 23 or, failing agreement, a date 90 days prior to commencement of the 24 trial on the issue of compensation or the date set by the court on 25 noticed motion of either party establishing good cause therefor.

26 (b) ~~Unless~~ Notwithstanding subdivision (a), unless otherwise 27 agreed to by the parties, the date of exchange shall not be earlier 28 than nine months after the date of commencement of the 29 proceeding.

30 SEC. 8. Section 1258.260 of the Code of Civil Procedure is 31 amended to read:

32 1258.260. (a) The statement of valuation data shall give the 33 name and business or residence address of the witness and shall 34 include a statement whether the witness will testify to an opinion 35 as to any of the matters listed in Section 1258.250 and, as to each 36 matter upon which the witness will give an opinion, what that 37 opinion is and the following items to the extent that the opinion is 38 based on them:

39 (1) The interest being valued.

40 (2) The date of valuation used by the witness.

- 1 (3) The highest and best use of the property.
- 2 (4) The applicable zoning and the opinion of the witness as to
- 3 the probability of any change in zoning.
- 4 (5) The sales, contracts to sell and purchase, and leases
- 5 supporting the opinion.
- 6 (6) The cost of reproduction or replacement of the existing
- 7 improvements on the property, the depreciation or obsolescence
- 8 the improvements have suffered, and the method of calculation
- 9 used to determine depreciation.
- 10 (7) The gross income from the property, the deductions from
- 11 gross income, and the resulting net income; the reasonable net
- 12 rental value attributable to the land and existing improvements,
- 13 and the estimated gross rental income and deductions upon which
- 14 the reasonable net rental value is computed; the rate of
- 15 capitalization used; and the value indicated by the capitalization.
- 16 (8) If the property is a portion of a larger parcel, a description
- 17 of the larger parcel and its value.
- 18 (9) If the opinion concerns loss of goodwill, the method used
- 19 to determine the loss, and a summary of the data supporting the
- 20 opinion.
- 21 (b) With respect to each sale, contract, or lease listed under
- 22 paragraph (5) of subdivision (a), the statement of valuation data
- 23 shall give:
 - 24 (1) The names and business or residence addresses, if known,
 - 25 of the parties to the transaction.
 - 26 (2) The location of the property subject to the transaction.
 - 27 (3) The date of the transaction.
 - 28 (4) If recorded, the date of recording and the volume and page
 - 29 or other identification of the record of the transaction.
 - 30 (5) The price and other terms and circumstances of the
 - 31 transaction. In lieu of stating the terms contained in any contract,
 - 32 lease, or other document, the statement may, if the document is
 - 33 available for inspection by the adverse party, state the place where
 - 34 and the times when it is available for inspection.
 - 35 (6) The total area and shape of the property subject to the
 - 36 transaction.
 - 37 (c) If any opinion referred to in Section 1258.250 is based in
 - 38 whole or in substantial part upon the opinion of another person, the
 - 39 statement of valuation data shall include the name and business or
 - 40 residence address of ~~such~~ that other person, his business,

1 occupation, or profession, and a statement as to the subject matter 2 to which his or her opinion relates.

3 (d) Except when an appraisal report is used as a statement of 4 valuation data as permitted by subdivision (e), the statement of 5 valuation data shall include a statement, signed by the witness, that 6 the witness has read the statement of valuation data and that it 7 fairly and correctly states his or her opinions and knowledge as to 8 the matters therein stated.

9 (e) An appraisal report that has been prepared by the witness 10 which includes the information required to be included in a 11 statement of valuation data may be used as a statement of valuation 12 data under this article.

13 SEC. 9. Section 1260.040 is added to the Code of Civil 14 Procedure, to read:

15 1260.040. (a) If there is a dispute between plaintiff and 16 defendant over an evidentiary or other legal issue affecting the 17 determination of compensation, either party may move the court 18 for a ruling on the issue. The motion shall be made not later than 19 60 days before commencement of trial on the issue of 20 compensation. The motion shall be heard by the judge assigned for 21 trial of the case.

22 (b) Notwithstanding any other statute or rule of court 23 governing the date of final offers and demands of the parties and 24 the date of trial of an eminent domain proceeding, the court may 25 postpone those dates for a period sufficient to enable the parties to 26 engage in further proceedings before trial in response to its ruling 27 on the motion.

28 (c) This section supplements, and does not replace any other 29 pretrial or trial procedure otherwise available to resolve an 30 evidentiary or other legal issue affecting the determination of 31 compensation.

32 SEC. 10. Section 7267.2 of the Government Code is amended 33 to read:

34 7267.2. (a) Prior to adopting a resolution of necessity 35 pursuant to Section 1245.230 of the Code of Civil Procedure and 36 initiating negotiations for the acquisition of real property, the 37 public entity shall establish an amount which it believes to be just 38 compensation therefor, and shall make an offer to the owner or 39 owners of record to acquire the property for the full amount so 40 established, unless the owner cannot be located with reasonable

1 diligence. The offer may be conditioned upon the legislative 2 body's ratification of the offer by execution of a contract of 3 acquisition or adoption of a resolution of necessity or both. In no 4 event shall the amount be less than the public entity's approved 5 appraisal of the fair market value of the property. Any decrease or 6 increase in the fair market value of real property to be acquired 7 prior to the date of valuation caused by the public improvement for 8 which the property is acquired, or by the likelihood that the 9 property would be acquired for the improvement, other than that 10 due to physical deterioration within the reasonable control of the 11 owner or occupant, shall be disregarded in determining the 12 compensation for the property.

13 (b) The public entity shall provide the owner of real property 14 to be acquired with a written statement of, and summary of the 15 basis for, the amount it established as just compensation. The 16 written statement and summary shall contain detail sufficient to 17 indicate clearly the basis for the offer, including, but not limited 18 to, all of the following information:

19 (1) The date of valuation, highest and best use, and applicable
20 zoning of property.

21 (2) The principal transactions, reproduction or replacement 22 cost analysis, or capitalization analysis, supporting the 23 determination of value.

24 (3) Where appropriate, the just compensation for the real 25 property acquired and for damages to remaining real property shall 26 be separately stated and shall include the calculations and narrative 27 explanation supporting the compensation, including any offsetting
28 benefits.

29 (c) Where the property involved is owner occupied residential 30 property and contains no more than four residential units, the 31 homeowner shall, upon request, be allowed to review a copy of the 32 appraisal upon which the offer is based. The public entity may, but 33 is not required to, satisfy the written statement, summary, and 34 review requirements of this section by providing the owner a copy 35 of the appraisal on which the offer is based.

36 (d) Notwithstanding subdivision (a), a public entity may make 37 an offer to the owner or owners of record to acquire real property 38 for less than an amount which it believes to be just compensation 39 therefor if (1) the real property is offered for sale by the owner at 40 a specified price less than the amount the public entity believes to 1 be just compensation therefor, (2) the public entity offers a price 2 which is equal to the specified price for which the property is being 3 offered by the landowner, and (3) no federal funds are involved in 4 the acquisition, construction, or project development.

5 (e) As used in subdivision (d), “offered for sale” means any of 6 the following:

7 (1) Directly offered by the landowner to the public entity for a 8 specified price in advance of negotiations by the public entity.

9 (2) Offered for sale to the general public at an advertised or 10 published, specified price set no more than six months prior to and 11 still available at the time the public entity initiates contact with the 12 landowner regarding the public entity’s possible acquisition of the 13 property.

14 SEC. 11. This act applies to any proceeding commenced on or 15 after January 1, 2002.

